Dear Bob:

I am enclosing a corrected version of my letter to you of January 31, 2003. I was embarrassed to learn that several of my last editorial changes did not find their way into the final letter. I also am enclosing a recent letter from Representative Frelinghuysen on the same topic, along with my response.

As I reviewed my letter to you, I was newly chagrined by your suggestion last evening that the letter to you does not provide a sound basis for agreement. Of the five points listed in the letter, Tierra or its representatives expressly have agreed in the course of our meetings with the first, second, and fifth points. The third point is merely a more specific statement of the first point. The fourth point is the only arguably new concept introduced by my letter, but it surely is consistent with the representations that PRRI advocates have made concerning the salutary effect of the PRRI model in reducing litigation. While I am open to discussion on any and all points, I am distressed to learn that a letter so closely tracking the representations of PRRI advocates could now be deemed an unacceptable basis for moving forward.

As ever, I am grateful for your continued leadership in finding common ground.

Cheers,

Bradley M. Campbell
Commissioner
